The fund underperformed as its financials positions declined with the overall sector, particularly Bawag and Nordea; however we believe these banks are well capitalised and well-managed especially in terms of conservative lending. History shows that Nordea, for example, made minimal bad loan losses in previous downturns. Allfunds slipped on fears that a proportion of its assets under administration could be linked to Credit Suisse clients, who may redeem. Teleperformance slipped on news that US senators were looking to ban TikTok in the US, however analysts estimate this represents a small proportion of revenues. Bright spots included Novo Nordisk which rose on continued strong consumer interest in its obesity franchise. Infineon raised its revenue and margin forecasts for the year on strong demand from electric cars and energy-transition trends in industry. Freight forwarders DSV and Kuehne gained as some peers beat expectations, and NTG advanced on strong results and outlook. Novartis surged on a positive outcome for a breast cancer drug which is in development. In terms of transactions, we trimmed Kuehne and SoftwareOne.
